

Brave Rats

A Duel of Clashing Clans™

History

Highlands, 13th Century.

With the sudden disappearance of the King of Rats, the kingdom is now without a sovereign. Two rat clans have come forth in a struggle for power.

The Yargs are barbarian rats, famous for their expertise in combat and their impressive size.

They wear the color blue into battle.

The Applewoods are civilized rats but are notorious for their obsession with jewelry and hoarding riches.

They wear the color red into battle.

The clashing clans prepare to fight for the crown, but a heavy secret weighs on the clans: both of their princes are secretly in love with the princess of their enemy's clan! While the strongest rat usually wins the fight, a clever tactician will use each rat's special power to sway the course of battle. Can you lead your clan to seize control of the kingdom?

Preparation

Each player takes a set of 8 cards of the same color.

How to Play

Players secretly choose one of their cards and place it face down in front of them.

Starting a round:

Once the 2 cards have been selected, both players flip over their cards at the same time.

Each card has a strength and a special power that both determine who wins the round.

The card with the highest strength wins, but some special powers can overrule this.

The special powers are mandatory and always count.

The following rounds:

Set the cards aside with the losing card turned face down as a reminder of who won the round.

The game then proceeds to the next round.

Both players choose a new card from their hand and simultaneously reveal them.

In the case of a draw (the strength of both cards is equal), the round is put on hold. The winner of the next round also wins the previous round that was on hold (it may happen that several rounds in a row are on hold).

End of the Game

The game ends when a player has won 4 rounds. This player's clan conquers the kingdom! If the players run out of cards before this happens, declare a tie and play again!

The Cards

Prince

You win the round

This card always wins the round except against the Princess and the Musician. It doesn't matter if the Assassin has turned the tables, the Prince beats the Assassin. However, the Musician still puts the round on hold.
Warning: if the opponent plays the Princess against your Prince, he doesn't just win the round, he wins the game!

General

The card in your next round gets +2 strength

The General's power affects the next round. If the opponent plays the Wizard in the next round, it does not nullify the General's power.

Wizard

Nullifies the special power of your opponent's card

The Wizard nullifies the opponent's special power, which simply means that the highest card wins the round.

Ambassador

If you win with this card, it counts as 2 victories

This effect is valid even if the round is on hold. If the player who played the Ambassador wins the round following a hold, it's worth 3 victories.

Assassin

The lowest strength wins

The lowest strength wins, except against a Prince.

Spy

Next round, your opponent reveals his card before you choose yours

If both players choose the Spy the same round, their powers nullify each other.

Princess

If your opponent plays the Prince, you automatically win the game

If your opponent plays the Prince, the game ends immediately and you win, regardless of the number of victories.

Musician

This round is nullified and put on hold

This power wins over all powers, except the Wizard's.

Game Variations

Some of the variations can be used in combination with others.

A. Traitor: Before the game, both players exchange a card randomly.

B. Lucky Draw: The 8 starting cards are shuffled to make a draw pile. Each player draws 3 cards and chooses one to play.

As soon as a card is played, a new card is drawn.

C. Fast Rat: The game is won after 3 victories instead of 4.

D. Draft: Shuffle all 16 cards. One player draws 4, chooses one to keep and gives the rest to the other player who chooses one to keep and gives the rest back and so on. Then the other player draws 4 new cards, chooses one to keep and so on until all cards are dealt.

E. Random Deal: Shuffle the 16 cards and deal 8 to each player.

F. Princess Attack: Before the game, one player exchanges his Princess for the opponent's Prince. This means one player starts with both Princes, the other with both Princesses.

G. The Emperor

Play 3 times. The first to win 2 games wins.
